Whole School Food Policy

Introductory Statement

As a primary school, we are also encouraged by the D.E.S and the Dept. of Health and Children, to promote healthy attitudes to food and eating in our school. We endeavour to do this by means of a Whole School Food Policy which is taught formally as part of the SPHE programme and in a practical manner by encouraging the children to bring healthy food for lunch. What people eat is known to be a key factor influencing health. Research indicates a strong link between diet and performance (e.g. a low sugar intake promotes concentration, lessens hyperactivity, protects teeth, and lessens the risk of diabetes. A low salt intake reduces the risk of heart disease in later life).

Rationale

Burnfort National School is dedicated to providing an environment that promotes healthy eating and enabling students to make informed choices. As educators, we are very conscious of the importance of children's diet and how it can impact on their health, concentration, development and well-being. As children spend a significant part of their day in school, it is important that we encourage and facilitate them to eat healthily during that time.

Many of the choices you make for your children today will influence their health in the future. One decision you make every day involves the choice and preparation of school lunches.

Healthy eating habits started in childhood, will stay with your children forever and influence their chances of a healthier life. Children grow and develop at a fast rate. Therefore, they need a high quality diet which contains adequate energy, proteins, vitamins, minerals and fibre.

A Whole School Food Policy supports the role of parents in promoting a healthy lifestyle for their child.

Aim

The aims for our Whole School Food Policy in Burnfort National School are:

1. To promote the personal development and well-being of the child.
2. To promote the health of the child and provide a foundation for healthy living in all its aspects.
3. To inculcate healthy attributes to food and eating at an early age.
4. To acknowledge the proven link between good nutrition and good learning.
5. To ensure everyone understands and supports healthy eating for living and learning.
6. To encourage the whole school community to make healthy food choices.

These aims will be addressed through the following objectives in the following key areas of the HPS.

Apart from the well-known health and dental reasons for healthy lunches, research has shown that much of poor concentration and hyperactivity in children is caused by nutritional imbalances.

Lunch is an important meal for school-going children. It should provide one third of their recommended daily allowance of nutrients without being high in fat, sugar or salt. It should also provide dietary fibre (roughage).

Objectives

1. To enable the child to appreciate the importance of good nutrition for growing and developing and staying healthy.
2. To enable the child to accept some personal responsibility for making wise food choices and adopting a healthy, balanced diet.
3. Through the Social, Personal and Health Education Programme (SPHE), Physical Education and Science curriculum, Burnfort National School will promote lifelong healthy eating and positive lifestyle choices.

We ask you to encourage a healthy lunch right from the start.

The following guide is designed to help provide quick, appetising and nutritious lunches for your children.

- One portion from the meat and the meat alternatives group.
- 2-3 portions from fruits and vegetables.
- One portion from the dairy products.

Success Criteria

This policy will have achieved its goals if:

1. The children enjoy healthy food in school.
2. The children realise the contribution a good diet makes to their overall development, growth and general wellbeing.
3. The policy gains general support from all the partners in Education involved in our school.
4. The children develop healthy attitudes towards food and eating.

Implementation

If the children bring prohibited food or drink into school, they will be asked by the class teacher to bring it home.

Note: Parents/guardians of any child with a medical condition, which requires a special diet, should contact the school.

In the event of food allergies, certain foods will be prohibited for health and safety reasons.

Policy and Planning

- This Whole School Food Policy will be displayed in the school and on the school website.
- Children will be educated about healthy food, nutrition and lifestyle choices.
